15TH YEAR. NO. 185.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, JAN. 16, 1900.

TWO CENTS

SCORED PETTIGREW

Wolcott Both Assailed and Ridiculed Him.

HE ALSO TACKLED BEVERIDGE.

Said His Attitude That We Should Hold The Philippines for Their Richness, Was Unworthy — The Position of the President Right.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The resolution of Mr. Pettigrew, calling upon the secretary of war for certain information regarding the Philippine insurrection was laid before the senate, after the conclusion of the routine business.

Mr. Pettigrew declined Mr. Hoar's request to substitute for his resolution on the same subject the one presented by Mr. Hoar.

Mr. Berry (Ark.) had read the resolution offered by Mr. Bacon (Ga.) and also Mr. Beveridge (Ind.).

Those who desired to discuss the Philippine question, he said, were met by the objection that they were aiding those who were in arms against the United States, and were responsible for the loss of life among the soldiers. He regarded this position as absolutely unwarranted, and declared that no man who was a man would be deterred from speaking of charges that were absolutely unfounded by facts. Mr. Berry believed that two resolutions which he had read from the desk fairly represented the views of the two great parties in this country. He was certain that the resolution of Mr. Beveridge reflected the sentiment and feelings of the administration, because it had been favorably commented upon by the administration speakers and newspapers throughout the country. The resolution had been indorsed, he said, by the administration leaders, yet it conferred an authority and a power upon this country as absolute as was possessed by the czar of Russia.

Mr. Berry referred to that part of Mr. Beveridge's speech, in which the Indiana senator had asserted that God had selected the American people as His trustees, whose appointed work was to extend to the Philippines and the Filipinos the civilization and liberty with which the American people as His chosen children were to enlighten the world. Mr. Berry did not admit that the American people were the trustees of the Lord in the Philippine matter.

He argued that the correct view of the situation in the Philippines was taken in the Bacon resolution. If that resolution were adopted today he believed that another gun would be fired in the Philippine revolution and at the same time the United States would gain all the commercial and material advantages depicted by Mr. Beveridge. He placed the responsibility for the insurrection upon the president, declaring that if his proclamation had not been issued not a gun would have been fired and not a drop of our soldiers' blood would have been shed. He said that, in his opinion, the president had issued the proclamation unwillingly; that he had been forced into the position he now occupied by scheming politicians. It was not too late to repair the wrong done, and it could be repaired by the adoption of the Bacon resolution.

Mr. Pettigrew resumed his speech upon the general Philippine question, his text being his resolution of inquiry. He made a sharp attack on the treaty made by the Americans with the Sultan of Sulu, charging that Polygamy and slavery were not only indorsed, but maintained by the United States through the treaty with the Sultan. He declared that the Republican party was going out of power as the champion of slavery and a repudiator of the Declaration of Independence. Egypt, said Mr. Pettigrew, had been brought under English "civilizing sway." As a result over 3,500 millions of the English government were wringing taxes from the oppressed people in Egypt in the name of the English yoke.

If we desired to make war on the Catholics, however, we could find them nearer home. The Aryan race could no more live in the tropics than could a polar bear. He asked how we were to get rich supporting a big standing army in the Philippines in order that people who earn 5 cents a day might trade with us? In China he had seen 3,500 Chinamen working in a cotton mill for wages that averaged $3.50 a month in silver, and boarding themselves. Yet our workmen were to be asked to compete with 6,000,000 of such workers in the Philippines to pay taxes to support an army of occupation, to subsidize ships to carry trade, in order that the trusts of this country might exploit the labor of the Philippines. Mr. Pettigrew said that if this program could be carried out it would be first to withdraw our troops; second, to allow the Philippines to set up an independent government, and third, he would say, "Hands off; this is neutral territory."

"You would not do that without the consent of the Filipinos?" inquired Mr. Spooner.

"I would not," replied the South Dakota senator. To hold the Filipinos without their consent, he said, gave the lie to every Fourth of July oration ever delivered in this country.

When Mr. Pettigrew concluded Mr. Wolcott (Colo.) arose to discuss the resolution. Any general discussion of our policy toward the Philippines seemed to him out of place at this time. Our first duty, he said, was to quell the insurrection, and would not have replied at all save for the "remark and intemperate" utterances of the senator from South Dakota.

No better demonstration of the value of the senate as a public forum could be found than this speech. There were in this country 70,000,000 people, good, bad and indifferent. They were mostly of good, but scattered through every community there were the discontented and unhappy; people who had not been successful and who viewed with suspicion and hatred all those whose lives had been crowned with success, who behind every good action looked for a lurking sinister purpose. It was fitting that such people should be represented here. "And I know of no man so fitted to speak for them as the senator from South Dakota," said Mr. Wolcott, turning his eyes upon Mr. Pettigrew who sat close to him and who steadily returned the gaze of his assailant. "During all the years I have known him," continued Mr. Wolcott, "I never knew him to say a kind or friendly word about a single person or cause."

Mr. Wolcott said he did not share the suggestions that utterances here had any influence upon the insurgents. If Aguinaldo had his ear to the ground he must know how utterly trifling is the captious cavilling that went on here. There was not an honest Democrat who did not admit that if his party were in power the first thing to be done would be to crush the insurrection. "If our soldiers in Manila will take care of Aguinaldo and his sympathizers as they are doing," said he, "our people at home will take care of Aguinaldo's sympathizers in the senate and the country." Mr. Wolcott recalled Mr. Pettigrew's statement that if he (Pettigrew) were a Filipino he would fight until he was gray against the aggressions of the United States. "I have no doubt he would fight," remarked Mr. Wolcott sarcastically, "if he were a Tagal. It is possible they might take him by adoption. I can picture him now—clad principally in the genial pleasant smile for which he is noted (laughter), blazing away with his blunderbuss against everybody in sight. A suggestion that the senator and Aguinaldo inaugurate an exchange might, for the purpose of experiment, not be without its attraction. If the exchange should take place, and if Aguinaldo, brave, loyal and patriotic, stood here representing the state of South Dakota, whose sons had bled and died in defense of the flag, he would not be found traducing the president of the United States and slandering and maligning the soldiers at the front, charging them with being swindlers and demagogues."

The resolutions to which Mr. Pettigrew had been speaking, Mr. Wolcott declared, were of no importance, because they were smothered and engulfed in the broader resolution that called for all information in the possession of the executive. They were simply petty carping, which contained the suspicious intimation that there had been crooked and dishonorable conduct. No step had been taken, Mr. Wolcott asserted, that did not reflect honor upon the people of the United States. He read from the president's message the extract about the duty of the government after the insurrection was over, to spare "no effort to build up the waste places," "to open schools and churches," "to foster trade and industry," and concluding with the words that it was "their liberty, not our power, which we are seeking to enhance."

"That," said Mr. Wolcott, "is the last public utterance of the president whose treatment of the Filipinos is described by the senator from South Dakota as 'brutal' and 'cruel.'"

Hearts may be attracted by assumed qualities, but the affections can only be fixed and retained by those that are real.—De Moy.

McGIFFERT A HERETIC

This Charge Before New York Presbytery.

HE WAS ORDERED TO STAND TRIAL.

Must Appear Before the Next Meeting of the Presbytery—Charges Made by Rev. Birch, the Stated Clerk—Substance of the Allegations.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The presbytery of New York listened to the formal charges of heresy made against Rev. Dr. Arthur C. McGiffert, by the stated clerk, Rev. G. W. F. Birch, and thereupon cited Dr. McGiffert to appear before it at the next meeting of the presbytery to be held on Feb. 12 and plead.

The charges brought by the stated clerk aver that Dr. McGiffert being a minister of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America and a member of the presbytery of New York, publicly denies the fundamental doctrines of the immediate inspiration by God, and the truthfulness and authority of the Holy Scripture, as set forth in the confession of faith and the Scripture itself; that said Dr. McGiffert, in his book entitled "A History of Christianity in the Apostolic Age," denies the immediate inspiration by God and the infallible authority of Holy Scripture by discrediting or contradicting statements of its writings; by teaching that the authors of Holy Scripture contradict each other, or that Scripture contradicts Scripture, and by denying the genuineness, truthfulness and authority of portions of the Gospel according to John, and the discourses of Our Lord as they are contained in said Gospel.

After Dr. McGiffert has been heard the presbytery, sitting as a court, may dismiss the charges. Whatever action they may take may be appealed from to the higher courts of the church.

It was said that Dr. Birch, by insisting on his charges, had offended many of his supporters in the presbytery, and that his clerkship might be taken from him at the annual meeting.

Encounter With Insurgents Near San Fernando — Work of Bates' Troops.

MANILA, Jan. 16.—Part of General John C. Bates' troops are operating about Lake Taal. The insurgents continue to retreat south. Colonel Hayes, with the Fourth cavalry, is supposed to have reached Lipa, where many Spanish prisoners are held. Colonel Anderson, with the Thirty-eighth infantry, took Tañay, on the north shore of the lake, with but little opposition. Major Cheatham, with a battalion of the Thirty-seventh, on his way to San Pablo, dispersed 400 insurgents, whom the cavalry are pursuing toward Alaminos.

A troop of the Third cavalry lost two men killed and three wounded in an encounter with the insurgents near San Fernando de la Union, Jan. 12.

DANGER IN STRIKES.

Samuel Gompers Warns the United Mine Workers Against an Ill-Advised One.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 15.—The National convention of the United Mine Workers of America met here to-day. The wage question will be the paramount one.

President Mitchell in his annual address justified the anticipated demands for increases, on the ground that coal is being sold at extraordinarily high prices and that the earning power of the members, as compared with the cost of living, is not as high now as it was prior to the strike of 1897. He also urged the convention to take some action "that will place hand and machine mining on a basis of greater equality."

Addresses were made by Fred Smith, organizer for the International Cigar Makers' union; Henry Fisher, president of the International Tobacco Workers' union; H. J. Scovinger, organizer for the International Boot and Shoe Workers' union; and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. The latter said in part: "I, for my part, have never been an advocate of ill-advised strikes. I don't believe there is one here who can say I have ever precipitated or advised resort to this method of obtaining concessions unless I felt sure we were right."

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 15.—Judge Thayer, in the United States court of appeals, to-day granted an application for a writ of habeas corpus and ordered the release of John P. Reese, a member of the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, who was found guilty of contempt of court in violating an injunction of the United States district court of Kansas.

THE KENTUCKY CONTEST.

Committee Meets to Pass on Governor or Taylor's Right to Serve.

Alleged Bribery.

FRANCFORT, Ky., Jan. 19.—The committee on contests met here to-day to decide the right of Governor Taylor and other State officers to serve. As a preliminary there was considerable wordy sparring, after which Attorney Edeln proceeded to argue the exceptions filed to the notices of contest, holding in general that the reasons were not well grounded. Mr. Phelps responded for the Goebel side, claiming that none of the objections cited by counsel on the other side were really in the way.

In the Senate to-day Senator Howard, Rep., introduced a resolution that a committee be appointed to investigate the charges of Governor Taylor as to Senators Frazer, Crenshaw and Allen, the Senate members of the contest committee. The resolution was referred to the judiciary committee, with instructions to report tomorrow at noon. A similar resolution as to the lieutenant-governor committee was so disposed of.

The Franklin county grand jury to-day returned indictments against John H. Whalen and Charles H. Ryan, charging them with unlawfully conspiring to bribe Senator S. B. Harrell.

Democrats Making Arrangements to Entertain Him at Harrisburg January 25.

Mr. Bryan will meet the State committee in the afternoon at the board of trade rooms, and in the evening a mass meeting will be held, at which it is expected he will make an address. He will probably be tendered a banquet after the public meeting.

Mr. Bryan will be the guest of Mayor Fritchey during his stay in Harrisburg.

INVASION THE SIGNAL

Boers Will Then Destroy Gold Industry.

ALL BURGHERS TO THE FRONT.

Kruger Orders All Available Inhabitants to Fight for Their Country. Quotes Psalm in a Manifesto Issued. News of the War.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—A dispatch to The Daily Mail, dated Saturday, Jan. 13 from Lourenzo Marques, said:

"President Kruger has issued a proclamation ordering all Burghers to the front. The Volksstem, the Transvaal official organ, suggests that the moment the British cross the border the gold industry should be irretrievably destroyed."

"President Kruger also issued a circular, dated Jan. 8, to Boer commandants and Burghers, urging them to show more energy in the Transvaal cause. He quotes Psalm xxii, verse 7, as God-given instructions to the Burghers, and says that the British have fixed their faith in Psalm lxxxiii. He also quotes Psalm lxxxix, verses 13 and 14, and asserts that he has searched the Bible without being able to find any other mode which can be followed by the Boers, who must fight 'in the name of the Lord.'"

"Commandeering is proceeding busily at Pretoria, where the town guard is exchanging Mausers for Martinis, as the former are badly needed at the front. It is said that there are nearly 3,000 British prisoners in Pretoria."

BROKER BADLY INJURED.

Refused to Accommodate a Clerk Going to Africa.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—A disgraceful scene occurred on the stock exchange. When Maurice Herzfelder, of the big stock broking firm of Kahn & Herzfelder, doing considerable New York business, appeared on the exchange he was mobbed, knocked down and kicked because, as alleged, he had refused to keep open the place of a clerk employed by him, who had volunteered for service in South Africa.

Mr. Herzfelder was so severely ill-used that he fainted, and when he recovered he was again maltreated. Finally he was rescued from his assailants.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Duke of Marlborough, who volunteered for service in South Africa, will sail for Cape Town Saturday next.

TRUST EVIL REMEDY.

Bryan and Hadley in Favor of Ostracizing the Magnates Having Control of Combines.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16.—Colonel William J. Bryan and President Arthur T. Hadley, of Yale university, were interviewed to-day relative to the latter's proposal to ostracize trust magnates. Both are agreed on the idea that social recognition should be denied to any man engaged in a trust or other business enterprise inimical to the public welfare, and that the public mind should be educated to see these evils that exist in the trust system. Colonel Bryan was asked for his views on the plan of Prof. Hadley. He said:

"The idea is a good one and should be encouraged. The man who tries to rob the public by means of a trust or by wrecking a bank or railroad should no more be countenanced by society than a plain highwayman. The thing needed is to awaken and educate the public mind and conscience on such matters. When the people understand the harm that there really is in trusts they will be ready to apply a remedy. There are things which were permitted in society 25 years ago which are not tolerated at all to-day. The change has been wrought through education. A similar change will take place when the people learn the true moral status of the trust question."

"I am glad, indeed, that college men, who are leaders in education, are taking up the matter for discussion. It is a step in the right direction, and I have no doubt that their researches will result in greatly helping to solve the problem. But so far as ostracism is concerned, I do not believe that as a remedy for the trust evil it is likely to become noticeably effective very soon."

SUBURBAN NEWS.

MAIN WITNESS CONE.

HUSBAND AND SON OF MURDERED WOMAN

Have Left Chester for Europe. Extension will be Completed to Mill Tomorrow.

There is another peculiar turn in the case of Albert Johnson, the negro now in the Wheeling jail charged with causing the death of Mrs. Mary Kinders, who kept a boarding house in Chester. Chester people are awaiting the outcome with interest.

Among the foreigners who returned to their native homes yesterday afternoon, was Joseph Kinders, husband of the dead woman and his little 6 year-old son, John. These two persons were the principal witnesses for the state against Johnson. Now that these people are about to leave this country, and as they were the only persons directly interested, the case of the state seems to be lost. The little boy was the only witness of the terrible deed. The Hancock county authorities are not aware that Kinders and his son have gone away and nothing was done after the coroner's inquest to hold them as witnesses for the trial, which will come up at the March term of court at New Cumberland.

Contractor McNally, by whom Kinders was employed, said last night that he understood Kinders had been making arrangements to leave for his native home for some time.

Prosecutor McKenzie of New Cumberland was here today investigating the case.

AT LAST.

Tracks Will Be Laid as Far as the New Mill Tomorrow Evening.

By next Monday active work will be commenced erecting machinery at the plant of the Chester rolling mill company. Superintendent George McNally said yesterday afternoon the extension would be completed as far as the mill by tomorrow night, and the several cars of machinery that are now on the sidings at Cumberland will be brought up on Thursday. The tracks are now being laid through the cut in the Gardner farm.

The boilers will be the first to be placed in position and after that the engines and electric crane. Manager Oliver Bergman has stated that if nothing happens the mill may be in operation by March 1.

The letter was addressed to the young man's father, and aside from much personal matter says: "There is a great opening in this country for bright young business men. I have been offered $100 a month in a commission house, but have been unable to get my discharge. Several members of our regiment who have been released from service have gone into business and are doing well. It is my intention to engage in business as soon as my term of service expires."

A brother of Carman is now teaching school at West Middleton, Pa., but early in June expects to go to the Philippines and go in business. Both men were formerly residents of East End and are well known in that part of the city.

MRS. MOORE GETS A DIVORCE AND A LICENSE.

Divorced From the Husband She Thought Dead--Everything Settled.

LISBON, Jan. 16. — [Special]—The granting of a decree in divorce and the issue of a marriage license yesterday afternoon marked the close of a peculiar matrimonial mix-up. Lucinda Moore obtained a divorce from William Moore and a few moments later secured license to marry Geo. W. Daniels.

In the latter eighties the plaintiff in the divorce case married a man named Moore, who died about 1890. In 1891 she married her deceased husband's brother, William Moore. Two years of unhappy married life followed and William left for parts unknown. A year ago Mrs. Moore removed from Empire, where both marriages had taken place, to Wellsville. Soon after she read in a paper that William Moore had been killed by a train. The description tallied with that of her husband, and, considering herself a widow, she married George W. Daniels, of Wellsville. William Moore turned up a little later and threatened to have her arrested for bigamy. Mrs. Moore hastened to an attorney, who advised her and Daniels to separate, which they did. Mrs. Moore then began suit for divorce from Moore, charging him with habitual drunkenness and wilful absence for three years. She was successful, and with the license secured yesterday now has her matrimonial troubles adjusted.

"THE TRUE BLUE."

There Are Two Ways of Telling an Incident—Listen to This One.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—I do not believe that you intended to do our company injustice in using the statement of Marcus M. Huston in your issue of Monday, January 15. But the public at large may possibly be prejudiced to some extent by Marcus M. Huston's statements, which are not, by any manner of means, in line with the facts in the case. The "True Blue," the Fraternities Accident Order, of Philadelphia, deals justly and squarely with each and every member of the organization. This will be substantiated by leading citizens of East Liverpool who are associated with that order. I simply ask that the public at large shall await full developments in the special case of Marcus M. Huston. I have no fear of the final result.

Wages.

LISBON, Jan. 16.—[Special]—Louisa Knori, of Salem, has filed a divorce action against her husband, John Knori, and has sued Henry Miller and John Feller, as partners in the creamery busi-

Christ Knabill. The Knoris were married at Salem in March, 1894, and have two children. She says that ever since their marriage he has cruelly abused her, ejecting her from her home last August, and in October, when she requested to go a distance of 25 miles to visit her dying sister, he ordered her to go and stay, and told her that she could not come back. She also says that in the presence of several persons, and without cause, he has accused her of misconduct.
Knori is a cheesemaker by occupation, and has been employed for some time at Maximo on good wages. Money owing him from his employers was attached by order of the court and an injunction issued restraining Knori from collecting any money owing to him. The court is

MANY AT THE ALTAR.

ings.

It must certainly be a matter of constant satisfaction to Dr. Crawford that he has such a splendid corps of workers, that assist him in the evangelistic services now being held in the First M. E. church. Last evening, the audience as usual was large and the singing splendid, songs that are overflowing with spirit of the gospel and sung out of a full heart and expressive of the soul's deepest emotions, these are factors that encourage the heart of the pastor and inspire him to so faithfully preach the word that has resulted in the salvation of so many.
Many listened with intense interest on an appropriate subject. The preaching was direct to the sinner, showing him that he is shipwrecked and forever lost unless he accepts the provision made for him in the gospel of Jesus Christ. His appeals were made with deep earnestness and upon the unsaved he rested the responsibility as to how they received the message.

Several bowed at the altar in deep repentance and were soon made to rejoice. Others were reclaimed. It was a late hour when the meeting was over.

Services tonight as usual at 7:45. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present at these meetings.

A TIME OF REVIVAL.

The M. P. Winter Campmeeting Continues In Interest.

The revival at the Methodist Protestant encampment last night was such as to justify the prediction that a great movement has begun in that church for the betterment of humanity in the city of East Liverpool. Long before the time for the services to begin the people began gathering, and when the pastor was ready to preach no more people could be accommodated. It was a literal jam. Prof. Evans, the blind singer, presided at the organ and sang with great power. He and Mrs. Evans sang a duet entitled "Count Your Blessings," which perceptibly moved the vast and ience.

At the close of the sermon invitations were given for seekers and many responded, ranging in age from 15 to 70 years. There were several conversions.
Eight joined the church and fully that many were left at the altar. Two or three were taken from the room, some of them unconscious for several minutes.
The blind singer will perhaps sing for the last time tonight, as he has engagements elsewhere.

that Hanna should even mention prosperity.

THE election of Bryan would certainly paralyze the trusts and everything else.

HEALTH is to be more expensive in ANSWER AT ONCE.

Andrew Carnegie should lose no time answering the charge that he put up the $4,000 tolls for cabling Senator Hoar's speech to the Filipinos, which resulted in the insurrection against the American government. It demands an immediate statement.

GOOD TIMES.

Although the list of properties advertised for sale for delinquent county taxes was about the average, when County Treasurer C. E. Smith held the sale today, he found but few properties on his list, almost all delinquents having paid up in full. These are good times and people have the cash to meet their indebtedness.

SATISFIED.

The proposed changes in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth congressional districts are not wanted by Columbiana county. The Republicans of this county are perfectly satisfied with the present arrangement. Any attempt to "gerry-mander" the district will be closely watched and bitterly opposed.

HE GOT A HEAVY FINE

A New Charge Filed Against Robert McManus.

HE IS NOT YET OF AGE

And a Saloonkeeper Had Him Arrested
For Trying to Buy Liquor in His Saloon—
The First Case of the Kind Ever Brought
In the City—He Now Owes $39.60.

Robert McManus has a very good chance of doing time in the Stark county workhouse unless he secures the $39.20 he owes the city.

Yesterday afternoon John E. Anderson, proprietor of the Anderson house saloon, appeared before the mayor and filed a complaint against McManus for attempting to purchase intoxicating liquor in his place. He was found guilty and the mayor fined him $25 and costs. In addition to this he is indebted to the mayor $9.60, the amount he was fined for being drunk Sunday.

McManus is not yet of age but seems to be addicted to drink and has made several visits to the mayor's office and has paid enough fines to teach him that it would pay him to stay sober.

The above case is the first of the kind ever filed in the city and it is brought under section 3, of ordinance No. 518, which makes it an offense for a minor to enter or frequent a place where intoxicating liquors are sold.

EDWARD DINERSTEIN

Decides to Attend School After He Spends Some Time In

Yesterday afternoon Truant Officer Beardmore walked into the court of Squire McLane and wanted to make complaint against Albert Dinerstein for not sending his son to school. Dinerstein was in the office and he at once confessed that he couldn't do anything with his boy. The officer then decided to make complaint against the boy, Edward Dinerstein, and while they were discussing the affair the youngster passed the office. Constable Miller went downstairs, got Dinerstein and he was landed in jail, where he remained until 8 o'clock when he was released upon a promise to be good.

POLITICAL CHANGE.

TO ALTER THIS CONGRES-SIONAL DISTRICT.

Reported Proposal to Shift Around the Eighteenth and Nineteenth.

The Columbus correspondent of the Cleveland Leader tells the public that if "plans now under way are carried out a bill may be introduced in the legislature during the season to re-district the congressional districts of the state. While this will probably affect all districts, the real purpose of it will be to change the make-up of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth districts in Northern Ohio and place them as they were when McKinley made his famous fight against David R. Paige in the Eighteenth and Garfield so ably represented the old Nineteenth.
It would put Portage, Trumbull, Mahoning, Ashtabula, Geauga and Lake in the Nineteenth, and Stark, Summit, Carroll and Columbiana in the Eighteenth.

"The thing which stands in the way of the introduction of the bill during the present session is the taking of the United States census, and the feeling that it would be better to wait until after that work was completed. Should it be decided to follow such a course, the bill will not get in until after the session following the present."

The people of the Eighteenth district in general and Republicans in particular, says the Alliance Review, would like to know what "friend at court" is thus planning a gerrymander for their benefit. Who is asking for any change in the boundaries of the Eighteenth district?

TWO ORDINARY DRUNKS

Had Cells at the City Jail Last Night.

ONE VICTIM WAS SLEEPING

When Officers White and Davidson Placed Him Under Arrest—The Other Man Had Too Much Liquor Aboard and Was Trying to Hold Up a Pole on Market Street

The effect of bad whisky was too much for John Delaney last night and he mistook the doorway of the Woodbine steam laundry for his home. He had ensconced himself in a very comfortable place, when Officers White and Davidson chanced to pass. They saw John, and after a short debate decided it was a shame for a man as sleepy as Delaney to spend the night out in the open air, when the city had such nice quarters for him to sleep off his jag. His sleep was very expensive, as it cost him $7.60, but he paid up.

Robert G. Noon, who works across the river, came to the city yesterday and filled up with East Liverpool whiskey. It was too much for him and when Officer Rose found him he was trying to hold up a post on East Market street and was having a hard time doing it. He complained that the pavement was taking frequent jaunts up into the air and imagined he was in a balloon. He was given a ride in the patrol, and when he had sufficiently sobered up some of his friends put in an appearance and gave security for his appearance this evening.

NO ASSUMED NAME.

Gertie Williams Didn't Use One and Didn't Run Away From Wheeling.

Dallas Smith, a brother-in-law of Gertie Williams, today stated that Miss Williams never used an assumed name, has no children, didn't run away from Wheeling and was as much surprised at her arrest as were her friends. She didn't kill a man but shot him and the charge against her was shooting with intent to kill. Her victim recovered, and is now living in Wheeling and is perfectly well.

MRS. OLIVER HOWE

Died Last Night at Her Home on Pennsylvania Avenue, East End.

Iva, wife of Oliver Howe, died last night at her home on Pennsylvania avenue, East End, from an attack of pneumonia, aged 24 years. She leaves a husband and four children to mourn her loss. The funeral services will take place at 7:30 o'clock, Dr. Taggart and Rev. Crowe, officiating. The remains will be taken to Matamoras for interment.

A STRAY HORSE

Was Captured This Morning on Eighth Street and Is Now in a Stable.

This morning a large bay horse was found running loose on Eighth street. It was captured and turned over to Officer Whan, who had it placed in Rayl's stable. The animal had a bridle and saddle on it and was covered with mud. If no owner appears the city will probably hold a horse sale.

Fitzgerald vs. John D. Kiddy et al., and A. B. Taylor et al. vs. Ed. F. Pusey et al., were settled.

The cases of the Missouri Glass company vs. George W. Clark, and Emma Noel vs. Joshua Faulk, were dismissed. In the case of George Lower vs. Ruth H. Nichols a demurrer was sustained and the defendant given a judgment against the plaintiff for costs.

IN THE MUD.

William Ferguson's Horse Stuck and He Left It There.

Last night William Ferguson, who lives near Dry Run started for his home and when he reached Thompson's pottery his horse took sick and dropped down in the mud. It was found this morning and some of the firemen hauled it up out of the mud, covered it with a blanket and put some straw under its head. The animal will probably die.

SECURED HER DECREE

Mrs. Emma Jackson Has Been Granted a Divorce.

CRUEL TREATMENT AND NEGLECT

To Such an Extent She Was Forced to Depend Upon Charity of Relatives, Were Alleged as Grounds of Her Successful Petition.

LISBON, Jan. 16.—[Special]—Mrs. Emma Jackson has fulfilled the conditions as laid down by the court, and secured her decree in divorce in her case against James M. Jackson, of East Liverpool. The Jacksons were married in Pittsburg in 1893. Almost ever since this time, the wife states, she has been subject to much cruel treatment and neglect, to such an extent that she was forced to depend upon the charity of relatives and friends. She was given the custody of two minor children.

THE QUEER CRUSTACEAN.

Interesting Characteristics of Lobsters and Turtles.

Lobsters, when young and frivolous, change their shells several times a year, but as they grow older and, presumably, more sedate they are content with a new suit every summer. The lobster is his own tailor, and persons who have watched the process say that the difficulty seems to lie in getting rid of the old garb and not in fitting the new. First he is attacked by a series of convulsions lasting for several days. During these a faint line of breakage appears down the middle of the back, which gradually grows broader with every spasm. The head piece is the first to break entirely, and suddenly a violent effort enables the lobster to withdraw his head, leaving the larger part of his eyes in the shell. After a rest of a few hours the struggle begins again, and the shoulders, or large claws, emerge, with effort so exhausting that nearly a day is required for recuperation.

During this time he presents a curious spectacle, with head and body completely out of the shell and only the tail inclosed. Then the convulsive movements are resumed, and shell by shell the tail covering is loosened, until, with violent struggles, the tail is free, and the lobster, looking as if he had been boiled, lies down for a sleep of two or three days.

The new suit grows with great rapidity and fits in perfect tailor made style, literally molded to the form.

Like the crab, which is most esteemed when "soft shelled," that is, at precisely this period, which is similar in both, the lobster is regarded by epicures as especially delicious when thus denuded of his shell covering, but as he hides carefully among the rocks he is seldom procurable.—New York Tribune.

Kaffir Greeting.

"Saku bona" are the first words a stranger learns of the Kaffir vocabulary. The expression is the common form of salutation used by the natives, and its literal translation is, "I see you." It is considered a mark of respect not to give the greeting immediately, the delay showing the reverence in which the native holds his visitor.—Philadelphia Record.

Red Peter in New England.

As one drives through the country towns all over Maine one can hardly fail to notice the frequent old red barns and oftentimes a whole set of farm buildings painted this conspicuous color. Query was made as to the reason therefor. It seems red paint is cheapest, far cheaper than white lead paint, and so far as serviceableness goes lasts as long and sheds the rain as well. Long may the little red farmhouse brighten our New England landscapes.—Bangor Wing and Courier.

To make paper fireproof nothing more is necessary than to saturate the paper in a strong solution of alum water, and when thoroughly dry it will resist the action of flame.

A WESTERN CANDIDATE.

Too Many Differences for McKinley's Mate to Come From New York.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—Henry C. Payne, of Wisconsin, a member of the sub-committee of the National Republican committee having in charge the arrangements for the holding of the national convention in this city in June, left for Washington, where the sub-committee will hold a meeting this week. Before leaving, he said in part: "The name of Cornelius Bliss, of New York, would be acceptable to the people of many of the states, both east and west, but Mr. Bliss has said that under no consideration must his name be used for the nomination. I have heard the name of Attorney General Griggs spoken of for the place, but it is not at all likely that he would accept the nomination."

"If New York wants the nomination she must stop quarreling or the Mississippi valley will present a candidate with a strong backing. It has been a long time since the west has had a vice president, and unless there is some decided stand taken by eastern statesmen, the west will do just what she was ready to do in the last presidential campaign. It was only the great popularity and friendship entertained for the late Garret A. Hobart, which prevented the west from pushing her own candidate."

GERMANY VERY FRIENDLY.

Mason Said There Were Indications That Trade Restrictions Would Be Removed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—According to Consul General Mason, at Berlin, a much friendlier feeling is developing in Germany toward the United States, which gives promise of resulting in the abatement of some of the harsh restrictions upon American trade that have been the source of bitter complaint by our exporters.

Mr. Mason attributes this feeling to the successful outcome of the Philadelphia commercial exposition, upon which he bases an admirable report to the state department.

He states that the Horticultural society, of Stuttgart, has just awarded a prize to Prof. Kruger, for an essay upon the whole question of American insect pests in Germany. The conclusions reached by the essay is that after a thorough scientific investigation, were that no insect of any importance or danger to agriculture has ever been introduced from North America into Germany; and that there is no danger on that score, owing to climatic differences.

Mr. Mason also quotes Dr. Dohrn, a German expert, in an appeal to the government to repeal the restrictive measures imposed upon American fruit, on account of supposed danger from San Jose scale, and he further cites one of the German chambers of commerce to the effect that no German scientist has been able to prove whether the San Jose scale found on American fruit was alive or dead.

ATTACKED OUR TROOPS.

Bolomen, Armed Insurgents and Robbers Did So and Lost 50 Men.
Other Operations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The war department received the following report from General Otis:

"MANILA, Jan. 15.—Bolo men and armed insurgents, robbers from Zeambes mountains, attacked two companies Twenty-fifth infantry, O'Neil commanding, at Iba, Jan. 6, driven and pursued with loss to them of 50 men; no casualties; Schwan's troops east and south Santo Tomas, Batangas; yesterday Cheatam's battalion Thirty-seventh struck enemy east Santo Tomas on San Pablo road; enemy left five dead on field; cavalry soon appearing, pursued force eastward; no report of result. Cheatam's casualties, one wounded; Anderson, Thirty-eighth, enroute to Lapa, yesterday, struck insurgents few miles south Santo Tomas, drove them through Lapa to Rosario; enemy's loss, 20 dead and wounded, 60 Spanish prisoners, $20,000; Schwan has liberated about 200 Spanish prisoners, now enroute to Manila. Anderson's casualties yesterday, one man killed, two wounded; Wheaton's force actively operating in Western Cavite and Batanga province, all important towns held and constant patrolling; great many Filipinos returning to homes believed to be insurgent deserters. Otis."

THEIR HANDS TIED.

Commerce Commissioners Ask Power to Deal With Railroads.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—In its annual report to-day the interstate commerce commission strongly urges congress to uphold the hands of the commission by amendments making the interstate commerce law more effective. The existing situation and the developments of the past year, it is added, render more imperative than ever before the necessity for speedy and special legislation. The chief weakness in the present statute, it pointed out to be its failure to give the commission power to regulate rates. Continuing, the report says: "If plans already foreshadowed are brought to effective results and others of similar scope are carried to execution, there will be a vast centralization of railroad properties, with all the power involved in such far-reaching combinations, yet uncontrolled by any public authority which can be efficiently exerted. The restraints of competition upon excessive and unjust rates will in this way be avoided, and whatever evils may result will be remediless under existing laws."

MRS. MOLLINAUX'S PAST.

Damaging Allegations Made By District
Attorney Osborne in the Famous Murder Trial.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—In the trial to-day of Roland B. Mollineux for the murder of Katherine Adams, Rachel Green, a negro servant, testified to having worked at one time in a house on Seventy-sixth street, where the Chesborough family had apartments. She said she knew Mollineux then as "Mr. Chesborough." Mollineux is now the husband of Miss Chesborough. The witness was asked to point out the man she had known in the Seventy-sixth street house. She walked down the crowded court room and singled out the defendant without hesitation. She added that when she left her service place in January, 1895, Mollineux had a dressing case which his valet had brought into Miss Chesborough's room.

Minnie Betts, another negress, made a direct allegation against Blanche Chesborough, now Mrs. Mollineux. The district attorney said:

"The witness has sworn the defendant lived with Blanche Chesborough in 1895, and I am going to show he did not; that there was another man intervened. I'll show that this man was Barnett, and that he and this defendant's wife lived together as man and wife from November 2 to January 1, and that later she left him and married this defendant. I shall establish the motive."

"Yes, but Barnett is not Cornish, said the recorder."

"No, but this will help establish that Mollineux wrote the Barnett letters and therefore wrote the address on the poison package. By these letters it was shown that this defendant was in no philanthropic state of mind toward Barnett, that Barnett received cyanide of mercury, and that the State lost an important witness."

"In the case of Cornish we have a complete scheme. We know how he received the poison. All the known facts in the Barnett case throw white light on the Cornish case. Connection with one will prove guilty knowledge in the other, and this connection is proven by the parallel of the facts. Motive established in the Barnett case will show that this defendant did away with Barnett. The testimony now being taken will establish this motive and it will clear the present case when this motive, we are now discovering is established."

"Go on," said the recorder. Minnie Betts then testified that she had been employed as waitress and had tended the door at Mrs. Bellinger's, in West End avenue, and that Blanche Chesborough had lived there, but that she went away in the summer of 1895. She said that she never saw Mr. Mollineux until after he was married to Blanche Chesborough. Asked if any other man ever called on her there, the witness tentatively replied "H. C. Barnett."

WOMAN HELD FOR MURDER.

Orpha Sheets Charged With Poisoning
Claude Tuttle—Pleads
Not Guilty.

GREEN SPRINGS, O., Jan. 16.—Coroner Lepper finished the inquest here to-day in the Claude Tuttle poisoning case, and this afternoon swore out a warrant charging Orpha Sheets with the willful murder of Tuttle. Marshal Gallagher went to the Sheets residence and served the warrant. All the emotion the girl showed was to tightly grip the chair.

She was taken before Mayor Johnson and the charge was read, to which she pleaded "not guilty." The trial was set for Friday evening. Miss Sheets was placed in the custody of the marshal.

On December 1 Claude Tuttle visited the home of Orpha Sheets here, and before leaving she invited him to drink a glass of wine. He left immediately afterward, and when about three miles from town was taken violently ill and was brought back to the Sheets residence by a friend who was with him, and died there a few minutes later.

The stomach was sent to the State chemist at Columbus and found to contain strychnine. Tuttle was in business in Green Springs, and about seven months ago lost his building and stock by fire. He gave Miss Sheets part of his insurance money to keep for him.

Miss Sheets purchased some strychnine at a local drug store about a week before Tuttle's death, and she laughingly remarked, holding up a piece as large as a pea, "this would kill a man." The druggist told her it would kill two men. After Tuttle's death this became known, and it was rumored she had killed him to get the money he had placed in her care. Tuttle's administrator called and asked for the money, and she claimed she had given it to him before he had departed, but $200 was found in a tub of water in the Sheets residence.

ROD MILL MEN ARE OUT.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 16.—Officials of the National Association of Rod Mill Workers claim the rod mill men are out to-day at all of the several mills controlled by the American Steel and Wire Company in this city. Chairman Gates makes the following statement: "Our company has 28,000 men on its pay rolls at the present time. Of this number not to exceed 400 are in the Cleveland district asking for an advance of 10 per cent as against the advance of 7 1/2 per cent which we granted on January 1. We do not anticipate any serious trouble, nor will there be any interruption of the business whatever, as we have probably 100,000 to 150,000 tons of finished product on hand, which we can ship out, which will be a month to six weeks' supply."

Silence is the safest response for all the contradiction that arises from impertinence, vulgarity or envy.

ELECTION FRAUD CASES.

Suit Has Begun Against Bondsmen
of Missing Men—Fifth Ward Cases Postponed.

PHILADELPHIA, P., Jan. 16.—The district attorney to-day began suit against the bondsmen of Deputy Coroner Samuel Salter, of this city; Capitol Police Lieutenant Joseph Rodgers, of Washington, and the four other fugitives in the seventh ward election case, who disappeared last week on the day they were to be arraigned to plead. The missing men are under indictment for making fraudulent returns, stating the list of box and impersonating election officers at the November election for State treasurer. The bail amounts to $10,000.

Three of the fugitives recently indicted for bail had been in the seventh division of the fifth ward will be arraigned in the quarter sessions court on Wednesday. The three men were in court to-day and were to have pleaded, but on application of counsel their arraignment was postponed on the claim that counsel did not have sufficient time to examine the indictments. The other five men connected with the ward frauds have not been arraigned.

Tommy's Speech.

Sue (who has just been asked to play something on the piano)—I really can't play anything.

Tommy—But, I say, Sue, why don't you play that piece you spoke to me about?

Sue—What piece?

Tommy—Why, that one you told me to ask you to play when we had company 'cause you knew it better'n any of the others. I forget the name!

Then Tommy was sent to bed.—Kansas City Independent.

The Best We Have.

Christ gives the best. He in the faroff ages
Once claimed the firstlings of the flock, the finest of the wheat.

And still He asks His own with gentlest pleading
To lay their highest hopes and brightest talents at His feet.

He'll not forget the feeblest service, humblest love.
He only asks that of our store we give to Him
The best we have.

Christ gives the best. He takes the hearts we offer
And fills them with His glorious beauty, joy and peace.

And in His service, as we're growing stronger,
The calls to grand achievements still increase.
The richest gifts for us on earth or in the heaven above.

Are hid in Christ. In Jesus we receive
The best we have.

And is our best too much? Oh, friends, let us remember
How once our Lord poured out His soul for us
And in the prime of His mysterious manhood
Gave up His precious life upon the cross.
The Lord of lords, by whom the worlds were made,
Through bitter grief and tears gave us
The best He had.

WE MUST REPEAT.

When Everybody In East Liverpool Tells
the Same Story.

It is hard to say new things about Doan's kidney pills. They cure lame and aching back, the sufferer from kidney disorders and the troubles of those whose urinary organism is wrong in its action. That they do this is so easy to prove that not a vestige of doubt remains. Public endorsement of local citizens is easily proven. Read this case. Mr. P. J. Green, veterinary surgeon, says: "When attending a sick horse belonging to Mr. G. H. Gardner, of 168 Jackson street, he remarked to me that the horse seemed to be in pain. I replied that I was the sicker of the two, as I could at that time scarcely straighten up with my back from lameness, weakness and severe pains. He asked me what my symptoms were and I explained to him that I had suffered for a number of years from my kidneys, that I had attacks at times when nothing helped me, and it was agony to get around, but that I could not endure idleness. The secretions from the kidneys were very high colored and acidous; that I had spells of dizziness when I could see black specks floating before my eyes and felt generally broken up. He looked up and said he had the very thing I needed to cure me in his house—Doan's kidney pills. He went into the house and brought me eight pills. I took them with me and I used them two at a dose. The effect was astonishing, I felt it almost at once, and went to the W. & W. pharmacy and bought a box and took them. The encouragement held out to me by the first eight pills was not mythical, as by their continued use the improvement continued and I consider now a person of praise too strong for Doan's kidney pills in short they are no plus ultra."

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours and union labor employed.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns.

M'LAURIN VERY ILL.

Physician Admitted That His Case Was Critical—Overwork the Cause.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 16.—Governor McLaurin, who has been ill with pneumonia for four days, is in a critical condition, and his physicians admitted that his recovery is doubtful. The disease has made harsh ravages on his system and he is in an enfeebled condition. Governor McLaurin insisted on looking after several state matters, principally pardons, which had been docketed, and the exertion of signing his name to the documents caused his fever to rise several degrees.

Alaska Should Be Divided.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The senate committee on territories considered a bill creating three judicial districts for Alaska and for a revision of the laws of the United States applying to the territory. A number of Alaska men were present. They were asked if there was any sentiment in favor of dividing the territory at Mt. St. Elias, making the southeastern portion the territory of Seward. The reply was that the people believed such a division would be necessary at some future time. The judicial bill was referred to a sub-committee.

An Ungallant Comparison.

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught, on visit to Egypt, met with several humorous experiences. One of them shows that even the Egyptians are not free from an unhappy weakness for saying just the wrong thing at a critical moment.

After an inspection of the troops by the duke outside of Omdurman, to which the duchess had accompanied him on horseback, the girths of her saddle suddenly gave way. There was no way of repairing them, and to enable her royal highness to get back with the least possible inconvenience a sort of sedan chair was improvised from a gun carriage. On this she was carried by Egyptian gunners, who were in charge of a native officer.

On the way the duchess said, "I hope your men will not be tired after carrying me," and was surprised and amused to receive the ungallant reply: "Indeed, no, madam; you are no heavier than the gun they are accustomed to carry!"

Considerable Appreciation.

"Some weeks ago," says the Memphis Scimitar, "a young man left a small package at the home of a young woman upon whom he was making his first call. She wrote him a note telling him he had left it. He wrote her one telling her it was some edibles and that she might appropriate it to her own use. She wrote again to express her appreciation. He replied to express his appreciation of her appreciation. She retaliated with an expression of her appreciation of his appreciation of her appreciation. At the present time the expression of appreciation is going forward in arithmetical progression as the letters multiply, and as they contain something a little more serious in its nature there promise to be some very interesting complications resulting from a correspondence presumably for the expression of appreciation."

Needed an Explanation.

Sir John Adye, who was governor of Gibraltar fortress, always made himself closely acquainted with the work of whatever happened to be his department. Meeting a person once coming into the office late, the general asked him what time he was supposed to be on duty.

"Oh," was the reply, "I usually stroll in about 11 or 12 o'clock."

"Stroll in?" said Sir John in a rising tone. "Then I presume you do not leave till late?"

"Well, I usually slip off about 2 o'clock."

"Slip off at 2?" exclaimed the veteran in his topmost note. "Pray, may I ask what department you belong to?"

"Oh," said the stranger, "I come every Saturday to attend to the clocks." Sir John retreated for the first time in his life.

A Little Too Hot.

Little Janet, aged 4, noticed the other day at dinner the rest of the family helping themselves liberally to the mustard. Nobody offering her any, she waited until something drew away the attention of the others, when she lifted the mustard spoon. Liberally drenched a piece of bread with it and took a great bite. Her hand immediately went up to her burned mouth; but, bravely suppressing an outcry, she put the bread away from her, remarking, "I think I'll wait till that jelly gets cold."

Miss Lowry Married Michler.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The marriage of Miss Marion Lowry, daughter of the late Commander Lowry, United States navy, to Colonel Francis Michler, United States army, aide to General Miles, occurred at noon at St. John's church. Rev. Dr. Mackay Smith officiated. The ushers were Colonel Lee, of the British army; Captain Maccomb, Captain Treat, Major Russell, Mr. George Howard and Mr. Gist Blair. Mrs. Alward, of Milwaukee, was matron of honor.

Claimed to Be Mrs. Livingstone's Heirs.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Edward, John L. and Philip Livingstone, living in New York city, cabled Consul General Gowdy, claiming to be brothers and sole heirs, if no will is found, of "Lady Maria" Livingstone, the eccentric woman whose death was announced from here Jan. 13. They requested that the funeral rites be those of the Protestant Episcopal church and that the interment take place in a Protestant cemetery.

Boston, Jan. 16.—It was announced by interested persons that $8,000 had been pledged by one person, whose name is withheld, to the fund which is being raised to carry on the work of Dwight L. Moody. Other large sums are expected by the committee, to whom has been committed the continuation of the educational institutions founded by the evangelist.

LIMITS OF SEED VITALITY.

No Truth in Stories of Germination After Thousands of Years.

"The statement is frequently made in the popular press," said Professor L. H. Pammet, government botanist, "that seeds have retained their vitality for a long time. Thus it is stated that wheat under some conditions has preserved its vitality for 50 or 100 years. It has frequently been stated that wheat taken from Egyptian monuments germinated, but in not a single case is this germination authenticated. Not a single grain taken from an ancient Egyptian sarcophagus and sown by various persons has ever been known to germinate, and the conditions for preserving the seed in these Egyptian monuments are better than in the soil. They are protected from the air and variations of temperature. The experiment which has been most talked of is that of the Count of Sternberg at Prague. He had received the grains from a trustworthy traveler, who told him that they were taken from a sarcophagus. It is said that two of these seeds germinated, but it is a well known fact that impostures are perpetrated by the people who dispose of these seeds. In some cases they have even stripped corn or maize into these sarcophagi.

"Many experiments have been made, not only in this country, but in Europe, to determine the vitality of various grain seeds. Thus, barley retains its vitality better than any other cereal, and this is said to retain its vitality from eight to ten years. In the case of wheat 90 to 100 per cent germinates in from one to four years; in five to seven years, 85 to 87 per cent. In the case of rye the percentage of germination in five years dropped to 55 per cent; in seven years, 35 per cent; nine years, 13 per cent. In the case of corn, I made some experiments a few years ago to determine the vitality and found that corn which was kept in tightly closed vessels at the age of 20 years had lost all its power of germination. Experiments also indicate that corn kept even a few years became largely deteriorated and lost much of its power of germination. Even grass seeds which have been buried at some depth in the soil and in vessels tightly sealed failed to germinate after a dozen or 15 years."—Chicago Chronicle.

BOOKS' NARROW ESCAPES.

Virgil's "Æneid." Works of Aristotle and Talmud Saved by Good Luck.

Three of the greatest books in the world have narrowly escaped destruction, the "Æneid" of Virgil, the works of Aristotle and the great body of Jewish tradition represented by the Talmud.

It is recorded that Virgil on his deathbed sought to burn the only copy of the "Æneid," as he had not revised it, and when he was foiled in this he ordered his executors, Varro and Tucca, not to give it to the world, a direction which was disregarded by order of the Emperor Augustus.

The works of Aristotle suffered from neglect. They lay many years buried in a cellar, and when, by mere accident, they were at last unearthed, they were so damaged by damp and dirt that in many passages they are hopelessly corrupt. How great would have been the loss of this work to the human race may be judged from the fact that everything that was known in the middle ages of the arts and sciences was derived directly from these writings.

The Talmud nearly became extinct through persecution. The possession of the Talmud, by a long series of edicts extending over many centuries, was made penal, and the book itself was burned. No fewer than 24 wagon loads of Talmud manuscript were burned in France in 1244.—Stray Stories.

The Model's Hard Trial.

Miss Siddal had a trying experience. In order that the artist might get the proper set of the garments in water and the right atmosphere and aqueous effects, she had to lie in a large bath filled with water, which was kept at an even temperature by lamps placed beneath. One day, just as the picture was nearly finished, the lamps went out, unnoticed by the artist, who was so intensely absorbed in his work that he thought of nothing else, and the poor lady was kept floating in the cold water till she was nearly benumbed. She herself never complained of this, but the result was that she contracted a severe cold, and her father, an auctioneer at Oxford, wrote to Millais, threatening him with an action of £50 damages for his carelessness. Millais paid the doctor's bill, and Miss Siddal, quickly recovering, was none the worse for her cold bath.—Life of Sir John Millais.

The Barber Shop Boss.

"You're next, sir," said the boss barber, indicating a fat man who was buried behind a newspaper. "I'll wait for awhile," replied the fat man. "I'm in no hurry." As another man climbed into the vacant chair the fat man leaned over to another customer who was waiting his turn and confided that he was in a hurry, a deuced hurry, but he would rather lose his turn than be shaved by the proprietor of the shop. "It isn't that I have any grievance against this particular barber," he went on, "but I shun all boss barbers, as I would a plague. In the first place, he patronizes you, and, in the second place, he is invariably the worst barber in the shop. Then, too, it takes him about twice as long. He will lather one side of your face and then go over to the desk to make change for a customer who is going out, for he is generally his own cashier. He considers it his duty to exchange airy persiflage with each customer as he leaves the shop, and by the time he gets back to you your face is caked in cold lather.

"This usually happens four or five times while you are getting shaved, and you may consider yourself lucky if a salesman for a perfumery or soap house doesn't come in to talk up his wares. In that event you are bound to be kept waiting for 10 or 15 minutes, and when you are finally shaved your peace of mind is destroyed for the rest of the day. No boss barbers in mine. I know 'em too well, and I wait every time."—Exchange.

Scored on McCullough.

"The late John McCullough, the tragedian, was a great friend of mine," said Comedian Crane, "and when in this city used always to live at the Gilsey House. One day I went there to call on him and, he being out, left my card, upon which, underneath my name, by way of a joke, I wrote in large letters the word 'Actor.' The next day I was passing McCullough on the street when he stopped me with 'Say, Billy, what do you mean by leaving a card in my box with such an infernal lie as that written on it?'

"I got even with him, however, later. McCullough was inordinately fond of the game of seven up, and one evening I had the satisfaction of beating him nine straight games. Bright and early the following morning I again left my card for him at his hotel, this time writing below my name 'Seven up player.' When I saw McCullough later in the day, I jollied him with 'That wasn't any lie I put on my card this morning, was it, John?' And he evidently saw the point, for he didn't reply to my question."—New York Tribune.

The Gallery Answered Martha.

Of the Dublin gallery boys a famous baritone, in his reminiscences, tells some good stories—one of "Faust," in which he played Valentine.

After the duel Martha, who rushed in at the head of the crowd, raised Valentine's head and held him in her arms during the first part of the scene and cried out in evident alarm:

"Oh, what shall I do?"

There was a deathlike stillness in the house, which was interrupted by a voice from the gallery calling out: "Unbutton his weskit!"

Sothorn's Recitation.

Sir Edward Russell knew E. A. Sothorn, the actor, intimately and in his book, "That Reminds Me," tells many stories of him.

He was dining at Portsmouth or somewhere at a regimental mess to which the officers had asked him with every show of the highest admiration and with no appearance of social superiority. After dinner, as the party sat at wine, one of the officers asked Sothorn to give them a recitation. Now, Sothorn abominated that kind of thing. He wouldn't tolerate being treated as an entertainer when he was by way of being treated as a gentleman. He coldly declined. They pressed him. He hotly declined. Still they pressed him. He expressed his feelings. Perhaps the officers were a little affected by wine. At all events they persisted. They would take no denial.

At last he said in a manner which showed that he was nettled, but yet yielding: "Well, if you won't let me off I must. I'll give you the dinner scene from 'David Garrick.'"

He did. He had never acted it better. They were delighted until, springing to his feet, he made his wild, tipsy exit, just as he did on the stage, and dragged the cloth off the table and with it all the regiment's prized dessert china and decanters and glasses, etc. Great was the smash. The actor did not wait to be applauded or to improve the occasion. The lesson was, indeed, a rough one, and probably only a man with some roughness in his daring humor would have given it, but it was quite deserved.

How Hard Bees Work.

Darwin after close observation found that a bee would often visit as many as 27 flowers in the course of a minute, though with other plants in which the honey was difficult to extract the average would be as low as seven. Striking a mean between these two figures, one may say that an ordinary working bee visits 15 flowers a minute, or 900 an hour. Considering the late hours to which a bee works, it is probably no exaggeration to say that it is busy for eight hours a day, allowing for intervals of rest. This would make it visit 7,200 flowers a day, or 648,000 in a period of six months.

Mr. A. S. Wilson in a recent paper showed the enormous amount of labor gone through by bees in making even a small quantity of honey. He found that approximately 125 heads of red clover yield 15 grains of sugar, or 125,000 heads about two pounds. As each head contains some 60 florets, it follows that 7,500,000 distinct flower tubes must be sucked in order to obtain two pounds of sugar. Now, honey contains, roughly speaking, 75 per cent of sugar; therefore the bees must make, in round numbers, 2,500,000 visits for one pound of honey.

Question Is Unanswered.

A certain grocer on the hill has for some days been looking for the owner of a voice that claimed his attention at the telephone one busy morning. When he finds the man, the meeting will furnish material for an interesting item, and the following dialogue explains itself:

The Voice—Hello, there! Is that you, Charles?

Grocer—Yes.

The Voice—Have you any salt fish?

Grocer—Yes.

The Voice—Is it fresh?

Grocer—Yes; came in this morning.

The Voice—Cod or pollock?

Grocer—Got both. Which do you want?

The Voice—Well, I don't know. Is the pollock good and dry?

Grocer—Yes.

Mice as Food in China.

The first thing which strikes the traveler in China upon his entrance into any of the many cities of the Celestial empire is the strings of dried mice which hang from the roofs of the houses suspended by their tails, just as sausages are hung in front of butcher shops in France.

The Chinese hunt these mice with a long, sharp pointed knife, which they plunge into the animals' throats. Then the mice are suspended by the tails until the blood has dripped out, when they are skinned, drawn and smoked.

Another favorite dish with the Chinese is dogs' feet. The feet of black dogs are considered more of a delicacy than those of any other color, and white dogs are rejected as being tasteless. Dogs' fat, prepared in a special manner, is looked upon as a repast fit for a king.

Going to Bed in India.

Going to bed in India is a very different process from going to bed at home. To begin with, it is a far less formal process. There is no shutting the door, no cutting yourself off from the outer world, no going up stairs and finally no getting into bed. You merely lie down on your bed, which, with its bedding, is so simple as to be worth describing. The bed is a wooden frame with webbing laced across it, and each bed has a thin cotton mattress. Over this one sheet is spread, and two pillows go to each bed. That's all!—Scottish American.
